

Prof. Eva Vilarrasa, MD, PhD

Department of Dermatology | Multidisciplinary Hidradenitis Suppurativa Unit
Hospital de la Santa Creu i Sant Pau, Barcelona, Spain
Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, Barcelona, Spain

Prof. Eva Vilarrasa is a Senior Consultant Dermatologist at Hospital de la Santa Creu i Sant Pau (Barcelona) and Professor of Dermatology at the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona. She holds a PhD (Cum Laude, 2023) focused on psoriasis, systemic treatment, and comorbidities, and completed fellowships in Mohs surgery at Mount Sinai Hospital and dermatopathology at the Fitzpatrick Learning Academy, New York.

Her clinical and research expertise centres on hidradenitis suppurativa (HS) and psoriatic disease, including comorbidities, biologic and small-molecule therapies, precision medicine, skin ultrasound/imaging, and digital health/AI applied to dermatology. She is President of the Spanish Hidradenitis Suppurativa Group (AEDV) and Principal Investigator of multiple phase II–IV clinical trials and investigator-promoted studies.

Prof. Vilarrasa is an active member and lead of national and international scientific committees, registries (REHS, REGESMOHS) and consensus projects (Ultrasound in HS, Biologics and Surgery Combination, Bioeligibility-EHSF). She is the author of over 120 publications in peer-reviewed journals and contributes to numerous national and international educational programmes in HS and psoriasis.